

Wilkins Wanders Off

All areas of Queensland Rugby Union have recently undergone some restructuring due to the current financial challenges, and this included the Community Rugby Department.

As a result, Peter Wilkins is to be relocated to Ballymore from 10 August, with expanded responsibilities as Regional Rugby Manager.

In practice there should be very little change to levels of service to the regions or to the communication channels. Peter will still be the main QRU regional contact and will continue to coordinate areas of development support and reporting, coach education and joint business plans. However the change will enable Peter to offer greater assistance to programs in South East Queensland.

Michael Cannon will remain in the Townsville office as the NQ Administration Officer and as ever will be available for assistance with any matter regarding MyRugby Admin, Running Rugby and Competition Management.

The Question

If a front row player is sent off or is temporarily suspended which of the following processes apply:

- If the team cannot provide enough suitably trained front-row players, the match continues with uncontested scrums.
- The Referee, upon awarding the next scrum, will ask the team captain whether or not the team has another player on the field suitably trained to play in the front row. If not the captain chooses an on the field player to be replaced by a suitably trained front row player from the team replacements. The captain may do this immediately; prior to the next scrum or after another player has been tried in the front row.
- When a temporary suspension ends and a front row player returns to the field of play, the replacement front row player leaves the field of play and the nominated player who left the field of play for the period of the suspension may resume playing in the match.
- All of the above

The Answer

(d) all of the above

Law 3 Number of Players - The Team

3.13 FRONT ROW FORWARD SENT OFF OR TEMPORARILY SUSPENDED OR INJURED

- If after a front row player has been sent off or during the time a front row player is temporarily suspended, and there are no further front row players available from the nominated team, then uncontested scrums will be ordered. It is not the responsibility of the referee to determine the suitability of trained front row replacements nor their availability, as this is a team responsibility.
- After a front row player is sent off or during the time a front row player is temporarily suspended the referee, upon awarding the next scrum, will ask that player's captain whether or not the team has another player on the field of play who is suitably trained to play in the front row. If not, the captain chooses any player from that team who then must leave the field of play and be replaced by a suitably trained front row player from the team's replacements. The captain may do this immediately prior to the next scrum or after another player has been tried in the front row.
- When a period of temporary suspension ends and a front row player returns to the field of play, the replacement front row player leaves the field of play and the nominated player who left the field of play for the period of the suspension may resume playing in the match.
- Furthermore, if, because of sending off or injury, a team cannot provide enough suitably trained front row players, the match continues with uncontested scrums.
